As for ourselves, we are persuaded that there is no honest road to specie payments but that which mvolves the application of that much-abused and dresded policy, namely: a considerable preliminary with-drawal of greenbacks. We do not mean to say that it is not possible to accompany the process of contraction by measures that to say that it is not possible to accompany the process of contraction by measures that will alleviate its. hardships. That can be done, but, as it seems to us, only in one way. A scheme must be inaugurated which will secure puri passe with the withdrawal of greenbacks the substitution of convertible notes. And here we have a hint as to how the transition is to be ligation of contracts, any disturbance of values, or any monetary crisis." Now any scheme which will do all this, is precisely the scheme which the country desires, precisely the scheme which ought to be adopted. It is claimed for this scheme, as indeed it should be to make it worthy of attention, that it will steer clear of all those cvils which are deemed to be insepaniously the scheme which the country desires, precisely the scheme which the country desires, which will secure pari passe with the withdrawal of greenbacks the substitution of convertible notes. And here we have a hint as to how the transition is to be made from our present to a convertible note with the process of contraction by measures that the process of contraction by measures that the process of contraction by measures that it is precisely the scheme which will alleviate its hardships. That can be done, but, as it seems to us, only in one way. A scheme must be inaugurated which will secure pari passe with the withdrawal of greenbacks the substitution of convertible notes. And here we have him a beginning the convertible notes and the country desires, precisely the scheme as the country desires. rable to any plan that contemplates a sud-den and complete return to specie pay-ments, or that seeks to reach that end by a gradual reduction of the currency until only accompany or follow the removal of the former, that the two movements are ments or that seek of the currency until its volume has been diminished to an

If this be so, in vain will be our efforts impossibility, it opposes the latter because it would make money scarce, and therefore dear, and dear money we all know partial or complete abolition of the green-means lower prices, prostration of trade, back system. We cannot always have sore dear, and dear money we all know means lower prices, prostration of trade, and runous losses to all who have incurred heavy liabilities. Furity versus Peison.

There is as much difference between PHALON's VITALIA or SALVATION FOR THE HAIR and the filsh-charged bair-darkeners as between the Peoi of Betheads, that an angel stirred, and a fever-breeding mud pond. The VITALIA is a crystalline fluid, without a single impurity or nozious property, and the naturalness of the shades it imparis to gray hair is unequalled, dufit ends. Purity versus Poison.

Rece the Blood Healthy and All is Well.

Readelis, the great blood purifier, by its unrivated siter axive properties, acts upon all the socretions of the system at one and the same time, causing all the organs of the body to perform their proper functions, however mortid they may be. It renews the vital and physical energry, giving new life and vivacify at the same time, so that persons using it feel that they enjoy an entire new life. If every person in the United States were to take one or two bottles of Rosadalis they would be repaid by renewed health and vigor. A dose should be taken three times a day.

Lorinda Chapman and Matilda Creel are two young colored girls, and they live on Second street, near Green. Lorinda says that Matilda entered her room and began to quarred with her sunt, when she told her to leave the room, whereat, Matilda threatened to break her head, or split it open. In consequence of this threat Lorinda swore out a peace warrant before Justice Clement. The Creel appeared and took out a cross-warrant against the Chapman, awberring that she threatened to commit murder, outright, apon her if she did not leave the house. Both cases were continued for further hearing.

have also, been in the habit of commencing their work. But it is also well know that a largo proportion of such contracts are in progress won severe weather sets in, and consequently work is stopped. Contracts remain in that tinfinished condition sometimes to associate loss when the session opens again much of the work must be done over, and the remainder drass; its slow length along, because work is resumed before the freet is out of the ground or, if the contracts are, by extraordinary edorrs, hought to a condition called a "minish,", the work has been so hurried that it has been sed in edition and the about risk. These facts are particularly appearant, after a short trial. These facts are particularly appearant in work on the streets, ellers, sidewarks, crossing, guiters, and occasionally in severs.

The entire arsiem is wrong, and the fault does not lie more with the contractors than the Council, it is folly to astempt such work to late in the trict, in place of actier, has confirmed, and who declines the office."

THERE ARE few who will not remember the circumstances of the explosion of the Hope Inpurance Company in this city a year or so ago. There are a large number of persons who took out, room after the organization of the company policies which ran five years, paying the first sunual premium and giving their notes for the succeeding opes. When the condition of the company became doubtful, and it began to be apparent that it had no solid basis of capital to rest upon, they refused to pay their notes and retain their insurance, and insured in other companies. The affairs of the Hope underwent an investigation, the bubble exploided and the company ceased to exist except in the Chancer Court of Louisrike. From this court there are now issued notifications to those who insured more than for one vera, requiring The Rink in Pancy Costumes.

Capt. Glover has risided to the importantly of his charming young friends, and will open his hall on Thursday evening (the 30th) for existing in fancy contume. He was strongly solicited to permit the skalers to appear in masks, out finally declined, in deference to the featings of those who are opposed to masquerades. His hall on Thursday evening will present a scone of marvelous beauty. Splendid as it is on ordinary occasions, it never put on a dress of such surpassing loveliness as it will wear that evening. The skaters, in their varied costumes, will indeed look like some gay creatures of the elements descended from a rainbow or the pithed clouds. As immense crowd will assemble to gaze upon the spectacle of fatty-like splendor. It is now understood that the most perfect order is always well preserved at the rink.

It is folly to attempt each work too late in the fail, and equal fully to begin too soon in the perior. It is not only folly, but a waste of the perior. It is not only folly, but a waste of the people's money. Not that only; it encourages of begets in contractors an indifference, which tells badiy on all their work. By this system the property-holders who pay for the work are defended. Contractors estimate their inability to complete the work. The contractors are bound over until spring—the cost to them of replacing that which may be islared, and the interest on their outlar upon material for so long a time of inaction. All this is put in the bill—and the property holder has it to pay. A writ of habeas corpus was used out on Monday and the prisoner taken bearing neal. It was proved by several prominent physicians that Taylor was isbering under an attack of delirium tremes at the time. Judge Bruce rendered a decision yesteday morning, admitting the prisoner to ball in the sum of $10,000. It was immediately given and Taylor released. Benoni Figs and Bobert $8g/der went on the bond.

The particulars of the killing are pretty well known to the public. Taylor says the negro struck thus, and he shot him for that, but several witnesses testified that Taylor shot if sengro for no cause whatever, and without giving him any warning of notice. One physician testined that Taylor and was under treatment at the time of the killing.
